AutoCAD vs. AutoCAD LT AutoCAD can be purchased as a single- or multi-user license, and many users of AutoCAD choose to do so. For a number of years AutoCAD LT was only available as a single-user license for small businesses. AutoCAD and AutoCAD LT are both DRAFT-enabled applications.

With DRAFT, the user can create and modify the appearance of a drawing as well as the basic structural characteristics of a drawing. DRAFT is a trademark of Autodesk. AutoCAD LT comes with many of the advanced features of AutoCAD, including DWG (Drafting) commands, the ability to set font attributes, and assistance from the drawing geometry and dimension tools. However, many of these advanced functions require additional licenses. AutoCAD LT can also create and edit symbols and surfaces. AutoCAD LT also has a built-in drafting toolbar. Autodesk AutoCAD is a computer-aided design (CAD) application for the drafting of two-dimensional and three-dimensional drawings. The product is unique in that it is very easy to learn, and it can be used by non-designers, thus facilitating the entry of drawings into the design stage of construction projects. AutoCAD is the cornerstone of the Autodesk product line that also includes AutoCAD LT, AutoCAD eDrawings, Inventor, and other Autodesk software applications. Autodesk also offers an extensive set of productivity and job costing add-on modules, which provides the ability to measure, calculate, bill, track, and control costs in the design stage of a project. If you have the source code, you can delete the /src/ and /gen/ directories. Early predictors of outcome in sepsis patients treated with albumin-driven protocol of fluid administration. Our aim was to assess the predictive value of SOFA, MELD and MELD-Na scores on mortality in septic patients treated with albumin-driven fluid administration. All patients with severe sepsis and septic shock treated with a fluid bolus and albumin in a 12-month period were retrospectively evaluated for analysis. Patients were divided into low- and high-risk groups based on the pre-albumin concentration and APACHE II and SOFA scores. Sixty-one patients were analyzed. Compared to patients with normal pre-albumin, a low pre-albumin was associated with higher SOFA (6.4 ± 3.4 vs. 4.4 ± 2.6 , p
