"The base of the game was finalized as of last summer, so we've spent the last few months drawing it in 3D in order to make it into a beautiful concept. The Art Style and Setting are still in progress, but the Characters and Enemies have been done." "Players will get to decide whether to actively take part in the story or to be more passive in it and just witness what happens. " "Right now we have two different versions of Aranaur who plays different parts in the story in order to form a human and Elgiiir." "The characters that interact with Aranaur will be treated with particular care, because we only have a few limited options. This is what makes the world and characters of the game so refreshing." "We want to make characters who are accepted in modern society, who are regular people, but retain an awful pride in their racial heritage and beliefs... I think that that will reflect the depth of their heart." "If the team is able to create a hero that represents the struggle and tragedy that war can cause, players will find a reason to keep playing. On the other hand, if we succeed in building an emotionally powerful and engaging hero who possesses a sense of forgiveness and a lack of jealousy... then that would be the best possible outcome." "Story and Setting are currently being discussed." [GAMEPLAY] "We will be combining a strong sense of action and game/RPG elements, while creating an exciting presentation for those elements." "The world and story will focus on human nature, not fantasy. We want to create a complete virtual world where the story is about the interweaving of the characters' lives." "The game will start with a simple story that keeps increasing in complexity as the stages progress, with the player's role playing out as a character that they define themselves while getting deeper into the story." [SETTING] "We will be creating a world that is unfamiliar and far-reaching, that takes you out of your reality and into a world in which anything can happen. We will be focusing on the graphic, visual and audio arts to make a world that is easy to comprehend." "We will have a system that feels continuous and dynamic. There will be a variety of quests that take you from place to place." [CHARACTERS] "The game will have several character classes, who can be considered

What's new:

In this deck, we present 5 different decks of cards, one for each day of the week.

The decks are meant to be used as mandatory cards for various games, but they're also great for just playing cards around the table or with friends.

Each deck contains 42 card, meaning that there are six cards for each of the 6 suits. This means that there should be 6 cards of the same suit if you want to draw them more than once, so you should have 10 "?" cards left for other purposes.

The benefits of using these decks are:

- They're specifically created for the games that they're useful for. There's no filler, no boring cards or useless cards.
- The designs are great for creating your own mental images, whether you're playing at home, playing with friends, or playing with one of these decks.
- They're harmonious and balanced due to their 6/6/6/6/6/6 structure. Use the decks in their entirety or break them up and have fun creating interesting combinations.
- You'll find there's an optimal structure for nearly every game, which means that the decks are good for all the online, tabletop, or card RPGs that you can play.
- It's fun using them to learn the other players' games (whether they use the decks in their entirety or not), and vice versa. A good resource for improving your mental image.
- They're great alternatives to "free-to-play cards", since they're balanced so you never end up having to spend your precious rupees on things like common cards, decks, or online packs.

To have a look, you can find them below.
