What's New In Event Budget?

The event budget template is an essential spreadsheet for the organization of your event. Event Budget uses a two column format, but can be adjusted to suit your needs. The sheet includes four worksheets and the information is organized by category (it is very easy to rearrange the spreadsheet). This spreadsheet does not calculate the totals of the events. It is not necessary to have this function because Excel has a built in function that calculates these for you. Event Budget Categories: This spreadsheet can be used for any type of event (birthday parties, graduations, weddings, conventions, conferences, parties, seminars, etc.). The categories are organized in a very logical manner: the same category appears in the same sheet, under the column title; the columns are the same as the titles. This spreadsheet organizes the information in four sheets: budget, receipts, expenses and income. In the budget sheet, you enter all your event expenses and income information. In the receipts sheet you enter all the receipts for the event. This is very important because, if you forgot to enter a receipt in the receipts sheet, you can always look in the budget sheet and cross reference a specific transaction with a specific category. In the expenses sheet you enter all your event expenses. You will find all of the general expenses, as well as a summary of all these expenses. This summary is also very important, because in this sheet you will find all the expenses listed by their category. You can also select a certain category and edit all the individual expenses for that category. In the income sheet you enter all of the income from the event. In this sheet you will find all of the individual income categories, as well as a summary of all the incomes for the event. You can also edit the totals of the expenses and incomes, because the template automatically calculates the totals. You can import expenses and incomes from another spreadsheet (P&L sheet) and you can also import receipts, budget and the final summary. The budget is automatically recalculated every time you change data, you edit, delete or insert information. You can easily organize your data by entering the information in the headers of the columns. For this, you just need to drag the column headers to the left or to the right. The columns can be automatically sorted by clicking on the column headers. You can also select all the columns and sort them in ascending or descending order by clicking on the header. When you move or delete a row, the spreadsheet calculates the totals for all the categories. When you create or delete a transaction in the receipts sheet, the budget automatically calculates the totals for the categories. The receipts can be entered either as text or date and time (YYYYMMDDhhmm), and they are automatically sorted by date and time. If you wish to enter the receipts as text, you
